

International Politics Panel with US-Consul General Meghan Gregonis

On November 27, 2019 REAF Co-director Prof. Dr. Stephan Bierling and US-Consul General Meghan Gregonis had an open discussion concerning "The US-Midterms and the Future of the transatlantic Relationship" in front of a captivated audience of students and locals from Regensburg. Meghan Gregonis' presence at UR is a part of a long tradition of US-Consul Generals speaking at the University, once greatly appreciated by students and faculty alike. After a warm introduction by Prof. Dr. Udo Hebel, Prof. Bierling and the US-Consul were then joined by Dr. Gerlinde Groitl, Prof. Dr. Volker Depkat, and Prof. Dr. Udo Hebel who also shared their perspectives of the current state of the transatlantic relationship from their various areas of study: international politics, history, and cultural studies respectively. Students were then allowed to ask their own questions. The fascinating discussion certainly demonstrated that the transatlantic relationship remains of significant importance to both Europe and the US.
