

Guest Lecture by

Prof. Dr. Hubert Zapf

Universität Augsburg

23 June 2016, H 22, 10-12 am

Hubert Zapf is Professor and Chair of American Literature at the University of Augsburg. His main areas of research are Cultural Ecology, English and American Literature, Literary and Cultural History and Theory. He is co-editor of Anglia: Journal of English Philology, of the Anglia Book Series, of the Handbooks of English and American Studies (DeGruyter), and of the book series Text und Theorie (Königshausen & Neumann). His publications include Kurze Geschichte der angloamerikanischen Literaturtheorie, UTB, 2nd ed. 1996; Literatur als kulturelle Ökologie, Niemeyer, 2002; Amerikanische Literaturgeschichte (ed.), Metzler, 3rd ed. 2010; American Studies Today: New Research Agendas (co-ed.), Winter, 2014; Literature and Science (ed.), Special Issue of Anglia 2015; Handbook of Ecocriticism and Cultural Ecology (ed.), De Gruyter, 2016; Literature as Cultural Ecology: Sustainable Texts, Bloomsbury, 2016; Zones of Focused Ambiguity in Siri Hustvedt's Works: Interdisciplinary Perspectives (co-ed.), De Gruyter, 2016; "Ecological Thought in Europe and Germany," Cambridge Global History of Literature and Environment, Cambridge University Press, forthcoming.