

“Constructions of Scottishness” (HS/CS-Adv)

Field-trip to Edinburgh (18.-23. February 2013)

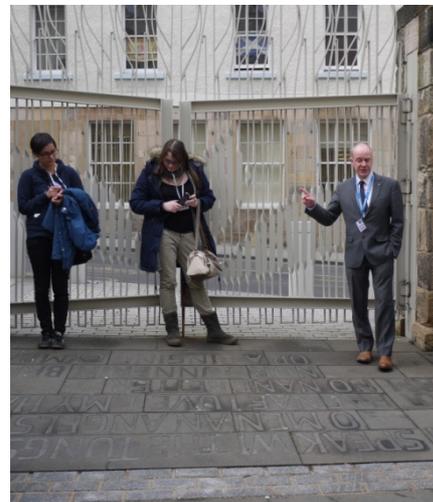

Having looked at various cultural constructions of Scottishness over the course of the winter term, the seminar went on a field-trip to Edinburgh to examine how Scottishness was presented in

- the National Museum of Scotland
- the National Portrait Gallery
- Edinburgh Castle (with War Museum)
- the Scottish Parliament
- the People’s Palace (in Glasgow)
- on the streets of Edinburgh and Glasgow

Some impressions from the trip:

Guided tour at the National Museum

MSP Kevin Stewart explaining
the Scottish Parliament

Most of our group at the Parliament